

Appendix One

Project Management

The QEP is an important project and is located in the Roy R. Charles Center. The Charles Center organizes honors and interdisciplinary programs; promotes faculty development, student research and scholarship; and administers the Monroe Scholar Program. Members of the QEP Team are listed below.

- David P. Aday, Jr., Sociology Department, chair
- Shirley Aceto, Provost Office
- David Armstrong, Physics Department
- Virginia Ambler, Student Affairs
- Susan Bosworth, Assessment and Planning
- Dorothy Finnegan, School of Education
- James Golden, Economic Development and Corporate Affairs
- Lorne Kuffel, Institutional Research
- Katherine Kulick, Modern Languages
- Linda Reilly, Classical Studies
- Martha Sheets, Administration
- Joel Schwartz, Government and Charles Center
- Jodi Fisler, Graduate Student, School of Education

In October of 2006, the Provost will appoint a QEP Advisory Committee, based on recommendations from the Executive Committee of the Faculty Assembly. That committee will provide direction for the project and advise the Director of the Charles Center on the day-to-day management of project activities. While faculty members from Arts and Sciences should comprise a majority of the committee membership, representation from administrative and staff offices and the other schools will improve prospects for considering the variety of possibilities and issues raised by the Final Report on the curriculum.