

New Campus Minister

We would like to take this opportunity to introduce you to Derek Revilock-Frost. Derek has taken over for Lois Hornsby to serve as the CSO's representative to Campus Ministries United. He and his wife, Rosalind, are members of the Williamsburg church. They are also innkeepers for the Black Badger Inn, a unique Bed and Breakfast in Williamsburg. We welcome Derek and look forward to working with him in the years to come!

Sentinel Interview

For many, the September 11th attacks seemed to displace the normal way of life in America. However, our own David Gross had the opportunity to speak with Christian Science Sentinel correspondent Suzanne Smedley about how everyone, regardless of their religion, can deal with the trauma and events following the attacks. Dave points out that by adding love to the cycle of hate and violence, we are able to "break that cycle." Pick up the January 28, 2002 issue of the Christian Science Sentinel and read what Dave has to say.

A message from Glenn

A number of years back I recall the concern from many Christian Science churches about the rising age of their congregations and the growing concern that there were not enough young people filling the pews. As a young twenty-something at a small rural church, I was at least twenty years younger than any other member. I was the hope of the future. Looking back now, that could have been a lot of pressure to put on a young person. But it

Dinner at Mrs. Delaune's!
Here we enjoyed having dinner with Jewel Lynn Delaune and holding a meeting at her house. Mrs. Delaune is the Sunday School teacher for the college class.
Pictured: Beth Waterson, Dave Gross, Nina Emerson, Melissa Bartlett, Owen Grimes.

Connecting CSOs

During the Fall Semester, a new web site was created, enabling CSOs across the world to contact each other and share Christian Science. CSOconnection.com allows members to locate and contact another CSO, find a campus speaker, and will soon offer chatting and message board features. We are excited about the opportunity of being able to communicate with fellow students studying and growing through Christian Science!

Current Members

- Melissa Bartlett, junior, math
- Nina Emerson, junior, government
- Owen Grimes, sophomore, history
- David Gross, junior, government
- Melanie Schrage, sophomore
- Beth Waterson, staff, VIMS
- Allison Wildridge, Associate Director, Residence Life

2000/2001 Alumni

Andrew and Eleanor Fahrney

never felt that way. Through dedicated Sunday School teachers and a very supportive college Christian Science Organization, I felt well prepared to face worldly opinion square on.

Now a Sunday School teacher and CSO advisor, I have the opportunity to evaluate the next generation of spiritual healers and workers. If you have wondered if the Christian Science movement is in good hands, one need look no further than CSO's. And the College of William & Mary's in particular. As you will see in this newsletter, this dedicated group has made themselves and the movement visible to the college community and has caught the attention of The Mother Church. I can assure you, the future is bright.

Glenn Williams