

With 17 Grand Slam titles and two Olympic Gold Medals, Beatriz “Gigi” Fernandez (b. 1964) ranks among the greatest doubles players of all time. Recruited to Clemson University from her native Puerto Rico, Fernandez went pro after reaching the national collegiate singles finals in her freshman year. From 1983 to 1997, she captured 69 doubles titles, reached 26 Grand Slam finals in doubles and mixed doubles, and was consistently ranked No. 1 from 1991 to 1995. Employing her big serve-and-volley game, Fernandez also reached as high as No. 17 in the singles rankings.

Retiring at the top of her game, Fernandez went on to earn her B.A. with honors from the University of South Florida in 2003, coaching the USF women’s tennis team as well from 2002-05. Dedicated to developing Puerto Rican tennis, Fernandez worked with the island’s Fed Cup and Olympic teams, and in 1999 was named Puerto Rico’s Female Athlete of the Century. Pursuing a second career as a businesswoman, Fernandez continues to head the Gigi Fernandez Charitable Foundation, established in 1992, which has donated more than a half-million dollars to charitable causes.

GIGI FERNANDEZ

DOUBLES LEGEND

On the court in Puerto Rico: Gigi took up the game at age 8, when her parents gave her tennis lessons as a birthday gift.

Fernandez and longtime doubles partner Natasha Zvereva of Belarus, the second most successful doubles pair in Grand Slam history after Martina Navratilova and Pam Shriver. “We were power,” Navratilova said. “They are finesse.”

After retiring from the pro circuit, Fernandez applied her passion for the game to coaching. “A lot of what I’m doing here is not just teaching tennis, but teaching life lessons,” she said.

Gigi partnered with Mary Jo Fernandez (no relation) to capture gold at the 1992 Olympics in Barcelona and again at the 1996 games in Atlanta.
